

Science Advances* Supplementary Materials Template Instructions

This is the Science Advances template for presenting and formatting your supplementary materials. To organize your supplementary materials section, please follow the instructions below. Once formatted, you should delete this first page of instructions.

Overview:

Supplementary Materials present additional information in support of the conclusions of your paper, such as a description of the materials and methods, controls, or tabulated data presented in Tables or Figures. It will consist of one PDF file with embedded figures and tables (if needed). Audio or movie files or large data Tables can be presented as separate files. See the *Science Advances* website for detailed instructions.

Supplementary Materials should not be used for additional discussion, analysis, or interpretations. It is not to be used as a forum to critique other publications.

References can be cited in the Supplementary Text section. These should be cited in order following the references in the main text as per Science Advances style (i.e., italicized number in parentheses). Include Supplementary Materials references in the full reference list at the end of the main paper.

Using the Template

Paste the title, first author full name (see examples for format), and corresponding author email address(es) from the main text file onto the cover page. On the cover page, complete the relevant table of contents of the SM and delete text that does not apply.

Copy and paste relevant text into each appropriate section of the template. For consistency use Times, 12 pt. Left-align all paragraphs, separating each paragraph by a line-break.

Each figure or table should be on a separate page and can be placed above each caption. To add additional captions, simply copy and paste (repeatedly) the last caption template. Large tables that extend beyond the width of the page should be provided as separate files in an appropriate spreadsheet format (.xlsx or similar).

Large amounts of text can be grouped by subheads. To repeat subheads, simply copy the subhead and repeat/rename.
